COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER DR. EUGENE E. HUSKEY

Dr. Eugene Huskey, Stetson University professor of Political Science and director of its interdisciplinary Russian Studies program, is an internationally known expert on Russian and Central Asian politics and legal affairs. His specialty is Kyrgyzstan, a Central Asian state created by the break-up of the Soviet Union.

A native Floridian, he earned a doctorate in Politics at the London School of Economics and Political Science in 1983, but his interest in Russian affairs began in high school when he began to study the language. He earned his bachelor's degree in History and Political Science from Vanderbilt University in 1974 and a master's degree in Politics from the University of Essex in 1976. He spent the 1979-80 academic year at Moscow State University doing doctoral research.

Before joining Stetson's College of Arts & Sciences faculty in 1989, he taught at Bowdoin College and Colgate University. In 1999, he was appointed to the William R. Kenan Jr. Chair in recognition of his wide-ranging accomplishments as a teacher and scholar. He also won Stetson's 2007 McEniry Award for Excellence in Teaching, the most prestigious honor given to a DeLand faculty member; and has received Stetson's Hand Award for Research twice.

Fluent in Russian, he frequently travels to Russia and Central Asia and has written three books and dozens of academic articles on the Russian executive, Soviet and post-Soviet law and politics of Kyrgyzstan. He has lectured at leading American and foreign universities, including Oxford, Harvard and Johns Hopkins; and presented seminars for the U. S. State Department in Washington, D.C., and in Uzbekistan.

He is the associate editor of Russian Review and a member of the editorial board of Advokat (the journal of the Moscow Bar Association), The Journal of Postcommunist and Transition Studies (Glasgow) and Demokratizatsiya: The Journal of Post-Soviet Democratization (Washington, D.C.).

GRADUATION PLEDGE

INITIATED BY THE CLASS OF 2002 AND THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION
STETSON UNIVERSITY

This voluntary commitment is part of a national movement in which college graduates sign a pledge to "lead responsible lives." Seniors who have signed the Stetson University pledge wear green and gold ribbons at Commencement to indicate their intention to live thoughtfully and responsibly, drawing on values they have developed here as they move forward in life and work:

I acknowledge the impact of my decisions on others, on society, and on the environment.
As I graduate from Stetson University and begin advanced study or my life's work, I pledge to consider the social, spiritual, and environmental consequences of my actions.
As I make daily choices, I will do my best to enhance the lives of others, to deepen my understanding of the spiritual dimension of human life, and to demonstrate respect for the natural world.

MISSION

Stetson University is committed to educating students to lead great lives, working in a creative community where learning and values meet. Our faculty and staff are devoted to fostering the qualities of mind and heart that will prepare students to reach their full potential as informed citizens of local communities and the world.

We practice the art of teaching through programs solidly grounded in a tradition of liberal learning in order to stimulate critical thinking, imaginative inquiry, creative expression, and lively intellectual debate. At Stetson, the art of learning is enhanced through small interactive classes, close student-faculty alliances, and collaborative approaches that provide the foundation for rewarding careers and advanced study in graduate and professional programs.

We embrace diverse methodologies to foster effective communication, information and technological literacy, and aesthetic appreciation. We encourage the development of informed convictions, independent judgment, and lifelong commitments to learning that are characteristic features of the enlightened citizen. In bringing together learning and values, the University encourages all of its members to demonstrate personal integrity; to develop an appreciation for the spiritual dimension of life; to embrace leadership in an increasingly complex, interdependent, and technological world; and to commit to active forms of social and environmental responsibility.

HERITAGE

Stetson University, Florida's first private university, was founded in 1883 by Henry A. DeLand, a New York philanthropist, as DeLand Academy. In 1887, the Legislature of the State of Florida enacted the Charter of DeLand University as an independent and autonomous institution of higher learning. The university name was changed in 1889 to honor John B. Stetson, the nationally known hat manufacturer who gave generously of his time and means to advance the quality and reputation of the institution, and who served, with Mr. DeLand and others, as a founding trustee of the university.

Stetson's first president, Dr. John E. Forbes, clearly described the commitment to teaching, which has been a hallmark of the university throughout its history:

"Buildings, libraries and apparatus are good and give added power, but the vital contact of students with a vigorous and stimulating mind and heart - this is the sine qua non of a successful education...The most important thing is to find men and women of large heart and mind, apt to teach and full of enthusiasm and stimulating power...to develop in the student the habit of independent judgment - of investigating statements and principles for oneself, and thus for oneself to discover their truth or falsity."

MEDALLION

The President's Medallion, worn at all official academic occasions, was first used for the inauguration of President John E. Johns in 1969. The medallion, cast in silver, is the university seal embraced by a wreath of laurel.

THE STETSON COLORS

The Stetson colors, green and white, were adopted about the same time as the seal. At the first commencement in 1893, the stage was decorated in Green and White. It is believed that the colors were chosen from the rich green of the orange trees and the pure white of the orange blossoms, a magnificent sight in the spring throughout Florida's great citrus belt. The color white represents purity, and green signifies growth.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

The traditional pageantry of an academic procession, such as the one which opens today's commencement exercises, is one of the impressive spectacles of our time. The array of handsome gowns and vividly colored hoods worn by the faculty and other officers of the university are the symbols of scholarly attainment.

The earliest illustrations of gowns worn at Oxford University in England somewhat resemble cassocks worn by English teachers who found good use for the hood, or cowl, as protection against weather. The American system of academic heraldry indicates the level of the degree, the field of study in which it was earned, and the institution by which it was granted.

The American mortarboard, derived from the soft Oxford cap, is black. Its tassel, for holders of the bachelor's and master's degrees, is usually black, although gold tassels may be worn by holders of doctoral degrees and heads of institutions. The tassel is worn on the right side of the cap by undergraduates, on the left by holders of bachelor's and higher degrees.

It is the hood that provides academic regalia its color and offers the most information about its wearer. The silk lining of the hood bears the color, or colors, of the degree-granting college or university; its velvet facing reveals the color assigned to each area of study. The doctor's gown may bear velvet trimming on the front and sleeves—such as dark blue for Doctors of Philosophy. A few institutions, mostly overseas but some in this country, authorize the wearing of colored robes, departing from the traditional black and brightly displaying the official colors of the university.

GONFALONS

Gonfalons are thought to have originated in Western Europe during the middle ages, when such banners displayed the personal coat of arms or ensign of a nobleman and were used as war flags hung from a horizontal bar and carried on a staff or suspended from a knight's lance. As early as the twelfth century, they were commonly used at state and religious ceremonies, and such pageantry finds a place today in the academic ceremonies of many colleges and universities.

Stetson University proudly introduced gonfalons at the commencement ceremony on May 6, 2006. Prominently featuring the University Seal and the name of the respective college and school offering programs of study, Stetson's gonfalons are richly hued in Stetson's colors of green and white, and accented by a luminous gold. The stately Elizabeth Hall cupola graces each gonfalon as a symbol of our heritage. The student bearers (gonfaloniers) are outstanding members of the graduating class, who have been selected by their Deans for this honor.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

The circular seal of Stetson University was first adopted between 1889 and 1891, about the time the name of the institution was changed from DeLand College to John B. Stetson University. It first appeared on a university catalog in 1891. The drawing was by an artist-in-residence and approved by President Forbes, Henry DeLand and John B. Stetson, as well as by the Board of Trustees. The Latin Motto, "Pro Deo et Veritate," is translated "For God and Truth." The Lamp, signifying the Light of Truth, rests on the Book of Wisdom.

MACE

Maces were originally war instruments used for organizing mayhem but from the 13th century, have been carried by the sergeant-at-arms of educational and corporate entities. In the European and in the older American universities, the mace symbolizes the dignity and authority of the president and the Board of Trustees.

Stetson's mace, designed by Episcopalian Canon Edward Nason West of the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, New York, was presented to President J. Ollie Edmunds in 1956.

The mace is described here by the artist, Daniel Spencer, master gold and silversmith of William Comyns & Sons of London.

"Stetson's mace is designed so that anyone could easily place the university's geographic location and chartering power. The palm buds from Florida's state seal form a base for the head of the mace. The legend around the bowl makes the particular institution's motive clear. The crenulations constitute what is known as a "canting device" since they are a play on the Latin word "stet" meaning "may it stand." The anchor, heart and cross - repeated twice in ornamenting them - are taken from the seal of the City of DeLand. From the top of the mace rises the shield of the university. The mace takes its basic shape from the mace of the Baptist Long Parliament, thus signifying the Baptist roots of the university."

William Comyns & Sons was established in 1645 and examples of its craftwork can be found in St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey.

HONORS PROGRAM

Founded in 1956, Stetson University's Honors Program is the oldest in the Southeast and one of the oldest in the nation. Its mission is to provide "enriched and intellectually stimulating learning experiences for inquisitive and motivated students." University Honors Program graduates must complete a rigorous sequence of courses in general education, fulfill all requirements for a major (and often a second major or minor), write a personal credo, pass a comprehensive oral examination, and maintain a minimum overall grade point average of 3.0. The Honors Program has a long tradition of providing leaders to student government, campus media, and service organizations.
